Cable TV woes aired at meeting

By TOM KISKEN

SOUTH BAY - Cable television and lack thereof were discussed by South Bay city commissioners, Tuesday, March 20.

Commissioner Rennie Morris introduced the cable issue, saying he felt Sunbelt Cable Company was not adequately servicing South Bay, especially in light of the company's recent rate hike.

"I believe Sunbelt has given us a bad deal, very bad," Morris said.

Commissioners agreed to ask a cable representative to appear at a commission meeting to address complaints. Mayor Don Tanner urged community members to attend this meeting and voice their complaints.

The commission in early February had approved a monthly cable rate increase of $1.50, noting that service had improved considerably in the last 90 days.

Morris said that although the cable company had assured commissioners the service repair department had been revised and improved, complaints were multiplying. He said he has called the company and been told that the customer would be contacted and then later found out that this contact was never made.

Audience members agreed the repair service is the crux of the problems, adding that the reception itself has improved.

Several in the audience reported that their sets were completely out that evening because the company had cut the wrong wires.

Mayor Donald Tanner told residents the city does not have the power to do anything about the cable service.

The city could retract its franchise agreement with the cable company, but this would not force the cable company out unless another company offered its services, he said. No other cable company is available to service South Bay, Tanner added.

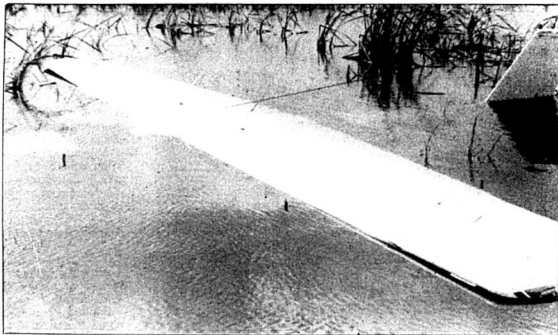

"I've been in this for several years and I don't have any answers," he stated, adding that he is just as concerned as anybody about the problem.

City Attorney Jim Gann said the only way to force Sunbelt to improve service was for residents to group together and file a class action lawsuit.

City Manager Lomax Harrelle reminded residents that Sunbelt had warned many customers they might experience reception difficulties in March. This warning might hurt the validity of a lawsuit.

Tanner suggested residents wait until the April 1 and then document their cable problems, specifying the difficulty, how long before it was repaired and when the company was notified of the problem.

Jim Shropshire suggested the city write a letter of complaint to some governing agency, such as the Federal Communications Commission.

ROBERT STOKES' plane is submerged, but he was unhurt.

Plane crashes into lake

PAHOKEE - Robert D. Stokes, of South Bay, survived unscathed after crash landing his plane in Lake Okeechobee, Tuesday, March 20.

Stokes, 68, the president of the local Farm Bureau, reported to police that he was flying his Cessna 177 plane from Big Cypress to Pahokee Airport when the craft ran out of fuel.

The plane landed in the lake near Dead River and Pelican Bay.

After a helicopter located the plane, Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department Glades Substation officials Deputy Bobby Champion, Deputy Raul Solis and Lt. Charles Lowell rescued Stokes in a boat.

With the plane submerged in about eight feet of water, Stokes was sitting on the wing when officials arrived on the scene.

AT&T brought the world of show business to Canal Point Tuesday, filming a commercial starring Cliff Robertson.

TV commercial filmed in Canal Point

BELLE GLADE - Movie star Cliff Robertson and AT&T brought cameras, lights and action to Canal Point, Tuesday, March 20.

The telephone company filmed a commercial starring Robertson and to be broadcast nationally. During the morning, the crew shot a scene on the dirt road behind Grannie's, on US 441. The crew moved down the road to the Quality Market after lunch for another scene after lunch.

Director Steve Horn said Canal Point was selected as a location because it typifies America, he said. AT&T was looking for a location which will appeal to most Americans, he said.

The morning scene had Robertson in a car at a railroad crossing, speaking on the services offered by AT&T.

Robertson said he has been to the Glades once before, shooting part of the movie "Pilot" in Pahokee, and enjoys the area very much.

"There are just good, friendly people here," he said.

Florida sugar crop down 8%

Florida's sugar industry ground 12 million tons of sugarcane to produce 1.22 million tons of raw sugar during the 1983-84 season, according to Dalton Yancey, executive vice president of the Florida Sugar Cane League.

Approximately 360,000 acres of the Everglades Agricultural Area is farmed for the sweet harvest. "The Florida sugarcane industry produced 8 percent less sugar than the 1.3 million ton crop of 1982-83 and 100,000 tons less than the pre-season crop estimate," said Yancey.

"This shortage was due to the Christmas freeze and a lower sucrose content in the cane than expected."

"The returns to our farmers remained stable throughout the season but cost of production continued to rise for the Florida sugarcane farmers," added Yancey.

The 1983-84 sugarcane harvesting season lasted 144 days compared to the 171-day 1982-83 harvesting season. "We were fortunate not to have to shut down the mills for as many days this season due to unfavorable weather conditions," said Yancey.

The four-county sugar-producing area includes Glades, Hendry, Palm Beach and Martin counties. Seven mills process the sugarcane into raw sugar. According to a 1982 University of Florida study, the Florida sugar industry has over $1 billion economic impact on the state each year and provides over 17,000 jobs.

South Bay commission runoff Tuesday

SOUTH BAY - Voters will decide whether Rennie Morris or Clarence Anthony will represent them on the South Bay City Commission in the runoff election, Tuesday, March 27.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., Tuesday in South Bay City Hall.

In the general election held Tuesday, March 13, neither Morris, the incumbent, nor Anthony gained at least 50 percent of the vote. Morris received 277 votes, or about 45 percent of the votes cast. Anthony had 235 votes, or about 39 percent.

A third candidate, Jim Shropshire, picked up the remaining about 16 percent and was eliminated from the race.

Morris, 55, 185, N.W. Sixth Ave., cited his record over the last two years as reasons why he should be re-elected.

"I believe I did a good job. There is evidence of the job I did," he said.

Morris pointed to the police department's growth as a major accomplishment over the past two years. As police commissioner, Morris took part in rebuilding the department after the entire force quit. Now the police department is one of the best in the county, he said.

As a commissioner, Morris said, he would continue to work to bring industry, particularly a VA hospital, to the city. Other goals include improving housing and street conditions and also lowering utility rates.

He said the city needs a nice, new trailer park, adding this would help lower utility rates.

Considering the fact that he had two opponents, Morris said, he did pretty well in the general election. He added he is optimistic about the upcoming runoff.

"I believe its going as I wanted it to," he said.

Morris, a South Bay resident for 28 years, is shop foreman at the West Area garage for the Palm Beach County School Board.

Anthony, 24, 207 Villa, Largo, said quality representation is the issue at hand.

"It's going to take progressive leadership to make South Bay a progressive community and I think I can provide that leadership," he said.

With experience in financial administration and community planning, Anthony said he thinks he has the ideas and ability to help South Bay grow. He stressed the need for commissioners to seek assistance from areas outside of the city.

Anthony is currently a planner with Palm Beach County Community Development. He has a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and a

Johnson qualifies for Pahokee council

PAHOKEE --Bill Johnson has qualified to run for the Pahokee city council seat currently held by Ada Conley, who earlier announced her re-election bid.

Johnson, 41, 165 S. Greenstar Ave., filed his papers Tuesday, March 13 for the May 8 election.

"I'm honest, I work hard and when I put my mind to something I don't quit," said Johnson, a farmer, adding he had been thinking about running for the council over the last year.

Dissatisfaction with the way things were going prompted him to run, the Pahokee native said. There is much room for improvement in the city, he added.

Major issues in this election are the city manager and the marina, Johnson stated.

Pahokee would be better off with a finance director or a purchasing agent, rather than a city manager, he maintained.

On the water front issue, Johnson said, "The lake belongs to all of us, not to one set group."

Three council seats along with mayor, police chief and clerk are up for grabs in the May election. Johnson became the seventh candidate to qualify for the election.

All the incumbents with the exception of Councilman Jon Mock have qualified, including: Mayor Duncan Padgett, Chief of Police Carmen "Skeets" Salvatore III, Clerk Betty McCoy, Conley and Councilman Ronnie Graydon.

Curtis Miners has also qualified for the council seat currently held by Mock.

master's in public administration.

Saying he's trying to get out every day and talk to residents, Anthony stated, "I feel pretty confident, I'm going to have to beat the buses to prove that I'm the best candidate."

The 100 or so residents who voted for Shropshire will be crucial to the outcome of the voter, Anthony said, adding both he and his candidates are trying to sway this sector.

A graduate of Glades Central Community High School, Anthony moved to South Bay to join his family in May 1983. He has a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and a master's degree in public administration.

City Clerk Virginia Walker said she will run Tuesday's election. Ballots will be counted at City Hall. The general election was handled by the Palm Beach County Supervisor of Elections.

Absentee ballots for Tuesday's runoff can be picked up at the clerk's office in City Hall, Walker said.

Balloting equipment will be tested Monday night, March 26 at 7 p.m. in City Hall.

Robertson—

As a spokesman for AT&T, Robertson said he is shooting a series of commercials. On Monday, the crew filmed scenes in Homestead, just south of Miami.

In addition to the commercials, Robertson said he is keeping real busy with movies and other projects. He said he has written a sequel to his film, "Charlie," and hopes to have it made into a movie soon.

Robertson said he has three films on the market this year: "Star 80," "Brainstorm" and "The Game."

Also he appears weekly in the TV drama series, "Falcon Crest."

Man jailed

BELLE GLADE --Police investigation continues after the burglary of the Bare Essentials store, 417 N.W. 16th St., Saturday, March 17.

Belle Glade Police Det. John Carney said three people were arrested for dealing in stolen property after being apprehended in possession of lingerie stolen from the store.

Grant Lee, 23, 723 Belle Glade Road, Pahokee; Deborah Henry Cargill, 28, 725 S.W. Ave. B; and Betty Jean Jones, 29, 917 S.W. Ave. C Place were arrested Saturday.

Carney said police discovered the burglary at about 3 a.m. Saturday morning. Officers observed suspects fleeing from building, but because of the rough terrain could not apprehend them.

The burglars broke into the store through the front window and took an undisclosed amount of women's lingerie.

Officers searched the surrounding area for physical evidence at daybreak, Saturday, Carney said.

Troop Captain Ray Peterson officiated the promotion ceremonies. Peterson credited Poole with excellent performance and also commended Corporal William Burroughs, who trained Poole.

Poole has worked in Pahokee as a trooper for the past six years.

Man jailed on pot charges

CANAL POINT --A Canal Point man was arrested on federal charges of conspiring to traffic more than 1,000 pounds of marijuana.

James Jones, 40, 503 Palmetto Drive, was arrested at his home Thursday, March 15 at about 2 p.m. by U.S. Customs agents and members of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department Glades Substation.

Jones was transported to Fort Lauderdale where he was being held without bond.

Suspect arrested in robbery of convenience store

BELLE GLADE — Police arrested a man Friday, March 16th, for the armed robbery of a convenience store three days earlier.

Terry Ward, 207, 507 SW. Sixth St., Belle Glade was arrested for the crime, at about 2:30 a.m. Friday and placed under a $25,000 bond.

Belle Glade Police Detective Jack Fulenwidder reported police broke down Ward's door and apprehended him after an investigation. Sgt. Leroy Carrigan, Patrolman John Smith and Fulenwidder made the arrest.

The Stop N Go, 201 S.W. Ave. E., had reportedly been held up at gunpoint on Tuesday, March 13. According to the cashier, a man walked up to the counter, pointing a gun in a paper bag at him and demanded money. The man made off with $68 on foot.

According to the police report, subsequent investigation turned up fingerprints on the Stop N Go's cashier's box which corresponded with Ward's prints. The Stop N Go cashier reported that the robber did hold the cashier's box.

Those involved in the investigation include: Officer F.W. Murray, Sgt. Lee O. Kielman and Lt. G.W. Farnall.

South Bay parking problem debated

SOUTH BAY — South Bay streets will soon be cleaner and may also be less cluttered.

City commissioners approved the purchase of a street sweeper for a total of $46,600, in their meeting Tuesday, March 20. A proposal to fight inadequate road space by enforcing alternate street parking was also discussed.

The street sweeper will be purchased from H.F. Mason Equipment Corp., Hialeah. It will be funded from federal revenue sharing funds.

City Manager Lomax Harrelle and Chief of Police Roy Humston recommended parking be allowed only on one side on certain streets to increase usable street space.

Parking would not be allowed, under the proposal, on: the south side of N.W. 1st St., from N.W. 3rd Ave. to N.W. 1st Ave.; east side of N.W. 3rd Ave.; and the east side of S.W. 12th St.

If the proposal is approved, no parking signs will be installed and violators will be ticketed. Commissioners tabled the proposal and indicated they would consider an ordinance enforcing alternate street parking throughout the city.

Byron Walker asked why residents are allowed to park on the streets at all. He said the escalation of street parking has literally turned his neighborhood into a loading zone.

Harrelle said people are forced to park on the street because of the curb, gutters and sidewalks put in by the county during the last few years. Before, residents just pulled on to their yards.

Mayor Donald Tanner noted that with any alternate parking setup, people would have to park on the other side of the street on certain days so that the city's new street sweeper can come through.

In other business:

Commissioners accepted a check of $500 from Widell Associates, manufacturer of the water treatment plant, to be used to fix the lime silo. Harrelle reported that the company would not fix the silo themselves although it is under warranty, but rather offered the money and asked the city to take responsibility. Harrelle said Widell claimed the silo was damaged by the city and was thus not covered by the warranty.

The commission approved a resolution opposing the municipal sunset proposal which would eliminate all cities in Florida with populations under 5,000 people.

Commissioner Willie Marshall was sworn in for a second term on the commission. Marshall was re-elected in the municipal election, Tuesday, March 13.

The commission will meet with city auditor William Washington to discuss the audit report just received by commissioners.

Tanner signed a proclamation naming March as Mental Retardation Month.

"And What Not"

Telling it like it is not

Not all the inspirational television is on the religious and self-awareness programs. Some of the people I find most inspiring are politicians, military men, sports stars and government job holders.

In the face of overwhelming odds, polls, or senate investigations their faith is unshakable. Have you ever heard one of them express anything but total confidence and bright, shining optimism?

I never have.

On the day before a major football game, we can expect to hear an interview with one of the coaches:

Interviewer: Coach, you've lost 17 of your last 16 games and now your star quarterback has broken both his arms, will that affect his game tomorrow?

Coach: I don't see why. His legs are in pretty good shape and he's done extremely well in practice this week carrying the ball in his teeth.

In this same vein, troubled candidates are dauntless and our leaders are fearless when the chips are down. Never is heard a discouraging word.

Wouldn't you like to be able to emulate these harbingers of cheer and fortitude? To know where the wellsprings of hope and self-confidence are that they take their buckets to be refilled?

I think it's done with mirrors - bathroom mirrors. Stand in front of your own; don't you look like one of the talking heads on TV? As long as you're there, why not interrogate yourself.

Real You: This morning we have with us Mrs. Yourname who is into her third week of her crash diet. According to an announcement made by her bathroom scales, she has gained five pounds since yesterday and some sources are saying she looks fatter. Are the reports true, Mrs. Yourname?

Talking Head: I think they are premature. We have to consider this is only one set of scales reporting in and while they reputedly are "honest weight," factors such as humidity, conditions in the Middle East and the lunar aspects of caloric values must be considered.

Real You: If I understand you correctly, you are saying the scales are incorrect and should be tested.

Talking Head: That might be one conclusion I could draw. Of course, I won't be able to prove this until I've weighed the evidence on scales at the bank, the drug store, and consulted other reliable sources.

Real You: Such as?

Talking Head: Recycled garments remaining from a time period before I was subject to such abundant proportions. This will include tests of the tensile strength of materials, seams, and so forth, and investigating any climatic conditions in my closet which might have resulted in shrinkage to previously worn wardrobe items.

Seems to me that once anyone gets the hang of it whole families could benefit from the never add nothing is wrong approach.

If success is a mix of inspiration and perspiration, what's wrong with creating a little optimism out of inspiration, desperation, and hoosey?

Listen up! Everybody who's anybody's doing it.

Why some live longer

According to insurance statistics here are some of the people who live longer than average: clergymen, scientists, symphony orchestra conductors, Supreme Court justices and teachers.

When I first read that I was puzzled: why do they live longer? What do they have in common? Certainly their chosen professions are considered respectable. And each requires a great deal of self-discipline in order to succeed. But I think there is another element which is even more fundamental.

Having purpose for living and doing a job that is meaningful has to be good for the heart, digestive system, nerves and all that adds up to good physical and mental health.

Examine the professions I have named. The clergyman knows that he is helping others to enjoy God and prepare for eternity; the scientist is most likely doing research to better the quality of life around the world; the symphony orchestra conductor masterfully blends the dissimilar sounds of some 80-90 different instruments, so that the hall is filled with harmony and the audience will long cherish the memory of that concert.

When the Supreme Court judge studies a case and makes a decision he knows that he cannot please all parties involved, but his work has meaning and what he has accomplished that day will have a lasting impact. And the teacher. In teaching there are many frustrations: students who don't care, parents who criticize, and school boards that don't pay. But giving knowledge and understanding is a meaningful job; it can change the direction of a nation.

Is your job meaningful? Or do you dread going to work each day? One estimate is that 70 percent of all those employed in the United States wish they could change their type or place of employment. Needless to say, that kind of attitude is a major cause of declining productivity in America.

Changing jobs is not necessarily the way to find meaning in employment. It has been found that when the personnel department takes each employee for a tour of the total operation, explaining where he fits into the picture, productivity goes up. For example, the man who day in and day out does nothing but tighten a certain bolt on the floor of a Chevrolet as it passes by on the assembly line, may feel his job is insignificant.

But when he is made to realize that he is an important member of the team, and that without him GMC could not be number one, then tightening that bolt becomes vital and must be done conscientiously.

But your company may not take time to give you that panoramic view. So here is another way you can see your job as meaningful, really you the Apostle Paul told some employees who spend on earth will be a had it a lot worse than you:

"Slaves, obey your masters in everything; and do it, not only when their eye is on you and to win their favor, but with sincerity ty of heart and reverence for the Lord. Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for men, since you know that becomes vital and must be done conscientiously.

Now I can't guarantee that by seeing purpose in the work you do you will necessarily live longer. But the time you do spend on earth will be a whole lot more pleasant for you and the others around you.

"Work on earth will soon be past; only what's done for Christ will last."

Nefflen nominated for teacher of the year

By TOM KISKEN

BELLE GLADE — The Palm Beach County West Area's teacher of the year says she tries to approach students as if they were her own children.

Priscilla Nefflen, ninth grade science teacher at Glades Central Community High School, was recently nominated by the West Area School District for the Palm Beach County Teacher of the Year award. Nefflen was one of five teachers in running for the county-wide award.

Saying she has three children of her own who have the right to an unlimited education, Nefflen comments, "I try to teach every child as though they were my own child."

A Glades Central teacher for two years, Nefflen, 40, Royal Palm Beach, has been teaching for 10 years and is originally from West Virginia.

"Teaching is fantastic," she says, "I've done many other things and this is the only thing I do well."

Nefflen, head of the Glades Central science department and laboratory coordinator, is actively involved in just about everything going on at the school.

Mercedes Robinson, chairman of the nominating committee which chose Nefflen as West Area nominee, explained the choice: "She is an excellent science teacher and is also in so many other activities."

Nefflen best represents the qualities which make up a good teacher, according to Robinson.

Three local instructors named teachers of the year by their respective students competed for the West Area nomination: Nefflen; Melven Lockett, physical education, Lake View Elementary; and Karen A. Kay, fourth grade, Glade View Elementary.

The nomination came as a complete surprise, Nefflen says. It is especially rewarding to be honored by peers, she adds.

Of her teaching methods, Nefflen says she tries to approach each student as an individual whenever possible. "I guess I probably have some personal relationship with every kid I teach."

Discipline, Nefflen says, is a vital key to effective teaching.

"Confusion says when a ninth grader has mouth open, ears are closed," she quips.

Nefflen states she has very conservative educational philosophies, believing that there is a core of knowledge to which everyone is entitled.

Glades Central provides an excellent educational atmosphere, she adds. Noting she was raised in a rural area, Nefflen says, "I love it, I'm home here."

The students at Glades Central help make teaching enjoyable, Nefflen adds. "We have a wonderful student body here."

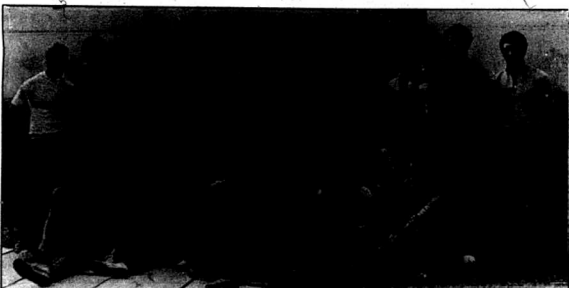

Nefflen, and the four other county nominees will be recognized by the Palm Beach County School Board at a future meeting.

GDS seniors travel to Europe

By TOM KISKEN

BELLE GLADE — A group of Glades Day School seniors begin a day tour of Europe this Friday, March 24.

The 31 seniors will leave Miami International Airport Friday and land in London, England the next day. The next 10 days will include sightseeing in Paris, Lucerne, Florence and Rome.

Members of the class indicated they can hardly wait for the overseas adventure to begin.

Sue Tucker, editor of the high school yearbook, said, "It's a once in a lifetime thing."

Eddie Mikovsky said he's looking forward to the chance to expand his horizons. "I want to find out about different cultures, particularly the music."

Mike Schlechter said that while a trip to Europe in itself is an unique experience, the opportunity to travel with friends makes the whole thing even more special.

The trip will include several firsts for the class. Several will enjoy (or not) their first flight. In fact, Tucker said the plane ride is the one part of the trip that has her worried.

Both Turner and Mikovsky noted they were particularly looking forward to seeing Switzerland and, for the first time in their lives, snow.

For one of the students, the trip will be a homecoming of sorts. Exchange student Lars Pedersen, Denmark, if not back in his home country, will at least be back on the right side of the ocean. Lars is being counted on as a combination guide-translator for the class.

The tour will begin in London as the class will visit Piccadilly Circus, the Houses of Parliament and the Buckingham Palace.

Then it's on to Paris, France where the students will see the Champs Elysees, the Arc De Triomphe, the Eiffel Tower and Notre Dame Cathedral.

Lucerne and the Swiss Alps are the next stop on the tour. In Florence, the class will visit the Michelangelo Square and the Cathedral.

Rome is next on the itinerary. Here students will see the ruins of the Colosseum and the Forum. Later, the class will tour the Holy City of the Vatican.

Then it's back to the skies with a return flight to Miami.

This is the fifth year, a group of Glades Day seniors have travelled to Europe. Director of Student Activities Sue Teets, supervisor of the trip, said the idea originally began as an extension of the senior's English Literature class.

Now, the trip is an annual thing. Mikovsky said Glades Day students of all grades look forward to the trip. "Once you get to be a senior you get to go to Europe," he said.

Teets said in her five years with the annual trip, she has never had any real problems with the students. The class is told the ground rules before the trip and then it's up to them to behave, she said. Four chaperones will accompany the class.

The trip will cost each senior about $1,500. Some students raise the money themselves through summer jobs and others are helped by their parents.

A vacation from Florida yes, but not from homework. One of the provisions of the trip is that students must complete all their work before leaving.

Gators, Crusaders battle to 4-4 baseball tie

BELLE GLADE—The Gators of Glades Day and the Christian Day School Crusaders battled to a 4-4 tie in eight innings of baseball action, Thursday, March 15.

The game was called due to darkness after eight innings.

The Crusaders jumped ahead first with runs in the first and second innings, then added two more in the fifth to take a 4-0 lead. All the Crusader tallies were unearned.

Jamie Barnwell, with a triple, and Jose Ruiz, punching out a double, both delivered key hits for CDS.

However, the Gators battled back with two runs in the fifth and another pair in the sixth. Roland Sweet led Glades Day with a two RBI single.

The game turned into a pitcher's battle in the late innings, as both John Mullins, for the Crusaders, and Glades Day's Mike Schlechter worked their way in and out of jams.

Both pitchers went the distance, Schlechter giving up just four hits, while Mullins was connected upon nine times.

In other action of the week, the Gators lost to Clewiston, 8-3, Tuesday, March 13 and then rebounded to defeat Summit Christian, Friday, March 16. The Gators record is now 2-3-1.

Coach Tom King said the team is playing well and improving each game.

Clewiston was probably the best team his squad has faced this season, he said. The Tigers jumped to a 3-0 first inning lead and the Gators never recovered.

Brian Lohmann had a fine day at the plate for Glades Day with a home run and a double.

On Friday, the Gators downed Summit Christian, 10-3, taking a 3-0 edge after three and then padding the cushion.

Five Gators had two hits in the game: Lohmann, Sweet, Robbie Carter and Jorge Suarez. Carter and Sweet each had three RBIs.

and Eric Browder slammed a three-bag hit. Jeff Parsons pitched the entire seven innings, striking out eight.

A CRUSADER swings and misses in Thursday's game.

TWO Gators nearly collide going after a fly ball.

Blue Devils drop 3 games

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee Blue Devil baseball squad is showing steady progress, according to their coach, Coach Gary McEntire.

The team is substantially improved over last year's squad and is getting a little better with each day. Joe Everett had a RBI single and scored better with each day. He noted the team's 4-13 record does not indicate this improvement, but added the Ninth grader Kip team is much more competitive this year.

The Blue Devils' starting debut, pitched six innings for Pahokee in the third last up just three hits, week. On Monday, but having control difficulties. Eighth grader March 19, they lost to San Humberto Caso pitchees beat Pahokee in the seventh inning Friday, 7-0 and South in his first appearance Fork bested the team for the Blue Devils, 5-1, Thursday. Santaluces blanked the Blue Devils, Friday on just one hit.

Pahokee's Richard Payne pitched the distance and allowed just four hits, as again walks put the Blue Devils in trouble.

Santaluces scored one or two runs in several innings, enjoying a comfortable lead most of the game.

Again, the Blue Devils took an early lead against South Fork. Thursday, Pahokee led 1-0 after two.

But South Fork scored two in the third and never trailed again. Hamilton had two singles and one RBI for Pahokee. Everett also had a single for the team.

Glades Central coaches, athletes honored

The Glades high schools' athletic reputation, shone through once again with heavy representation on recently selected all-star teams.

The All Palm Beach Athletic Conference Team was selected by conference coaches in early March. Both the Palm Beach Post and the Miami Herald also recently announced all-area teams.

Leading the way among the many Glades honorees was Graham Frost, Glades Central Community High School, who was named girls' basketball coach of the year in the conference and by both newspapers.

Glades Central boy's basketball coach Harold Taylor was also selected conference coach of the year with Pahokee's Eddie Rhodes as runnerup.

Rhondy Weston, boy's basketball, and Denise Bussie, girl's basketball, both of Glades Central, led students in all-star selections. Both were named to all three first team all-star lists.

Girl cagers

Frost said the honorees were very satisfying and a cap to a great year. "It was a tremendous season, everything seemed to fall together," he said.

The girl hoopers' only loss of the season came in the regional finals to eventual state champion Pompano Ely. The girls finished the year with a 21-1 record.

Frost, a math teacher at Glades Central, began his first season as a basketball coach last fall. "If Dr. Green asks me, I plan on coming back and hope to take us over that last hurdle all the way to state," he said.

Bussie, a senior forward, was the team's leading scorer this year.

"She's got unbelievable natural ability," Frost said.

A guard her previous three years with the Raiders, Frost said he asked Bussie to make the switch to forward early this year. She took the suggestion well and did her best to learn the forward's position, he said.

Frost said Bussie has definite college potential, adding he hopes scholarships will be forthcoming.

Evette Lyman, sophomore center, was named to the 12-player all-conference squad and second team on both all-area teams.

Frost said Lyman has as much natural ability as any athlete he has ever seen. "No one knows her potential!"

Terry Bailey, senior guard, was named all conference and honorable mention to both all-area teams. Bailey was one of the team's offensive weapons this year.

Karen Gooden, senior forward, was named to the all-conference squad. Gooden's forte was rebounding as she complemented the Raider scorers with inside strength.

Boy's basketball

Both Glades Central and Pahokee were well represented in all-star selections.

Taylor, unanimous selection as conference coach of the year, led the Raiders to their first state tourney appearance ever, to a state ranking of fifth among AAA teams and to a 27-5 overall record.

"It is especially rewarding, because other coaches pick the award," Taylor said.

Like Frost, Taylor is in his first year as Glades Central coach, coming from Indiana.

Rhodes, whose Blue Devils were district champs and conference co-champs (along with Glades Central) was named runnerup to Taylor.

A football All-American, Weston showed plenty of basketball talent this year. He was the Raiders leading rebounder and one of its major offensive weapons.

Taylor said that once Weston adapted to his role as an inside force, the Raiders really came together.

Already packed with a football scholarship to the University of Florida, Weston's performance on the basketball floor had more than a couple cage scouts wishing they had never heard of football.

Senior forward Terry Givens was named all-conference and second team all area.

Givens, along with Weston, was one of the Raiders top two offensive cogs, also providing rebounding and passing strength.

Taylor said Givens' all-around game and leadership abilities made him invaluable to the Raiders this year.

Nate Johnston, the 6-foot-7 senior center, was named all conference and honorable mention all area. Taylor said Johnston came up from the junior varsity squad last year to complete the Raider's inside trio. "He has the potential to become a very fine basketball player," he added.

Taylor added both Givens and Johnston will be competing in the Florida AAU tryouts this Saturday and Sunday, March 24-25, in Deland. Some 90 high school students throughout the state have been invited to try out for the team.

Pahokee's Barry Jackson, junior forward, and Anthony Smith, senior guard, were both named to the all-conference team. Jackson was also named honorable mention on both all-area squads.

Rhodes said both players were leaders on this year's district champion team. "Barry was our backbone and Anthony, the leading scorer, was one of our main sparkplugs."

Jackson was the team's number two scorer and also was second to Smith in assists.

Wrestling

Several Glades Central wrestlers received all star honors.

Juran Sampson, at 132 pounds, was named to the Miami Herald's all-area first team. Sampson led the team in total team points, takeovers, reversals and was co-leader in wins. He was among the key reasons the squad came on as the year progressed.

Frank Kelly, at 105 pounds, was named to both all-area second teams. Homer Rozier, 138 pounds, was named to the Herald's all-area second team.

Phillip Farley, 145 pounds; John Hubbard, 155 pounds; and James Moore, 167 pounds; were named honorable mention on both all-area teams. Andrew Roberts, 126 pounds, was named honorable mention to the Herald's all-area team.

Basketball handler appearance set

She will perform at the city-wide Fellowship of Christian Athletes meeting, Tuesday, March 27 at 8:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church recreation building.

The second appearance will be at Christian Day School, Wednesday, March 28 in two performances, one at 9 a.m. and again at 10 a.m. in the school gymnasium.

foreign mission fields in revival crusade evangelism, according to a news release. Lancaster has been an evangelist for over 24 years and has travelled to 47 states and 30 foreign countries. He is a musician, lyric baritone soloist, keyboard and recording artist.

Larrimore has been in evangelistic crusades across the United States and in foreign countries. The pastor of the First Baptist Church, Rev. Robert Atkins, said a nursery will be provided for the services and everyone is invited to attend.

Chamber awards procedure changed

PAHOKEE -- Pahokee Chamber of Commerce directors renovated their annual awards during a special meeting, Monday, March 19.

Directors voted to issue three awards at their annual dinner in January: citizen of the year, distinguished service, and volunteer of the year. Decision on a business of the year award was tabled.

The volunteer of the year award was the only new item approved, but the selection process of the other two awards was re-defined.

Citizen of the year -- Written nominations with explanations will be accepted for this award after Nov. 1 from anyone in the community. A panel of former recipients will pick the winner.

Previously, a chamber committee selected the citizen of the year. R.D. Santerfeit, co-winner of this year's citizen award, said, "No way, we're going to take politics completely out of it.... This,

I think, is a much more Democratic way of doing it."

Volunteer of the year -- Same selection process as citizen of the year, except that the award will be based on overall service, not just one year. Bennett said this award was added to allow flexibility to honor another resident in addition to the citizen of the year.

Distinguished service award -- Chamber directors will determine this award. President James Bennett said that while the citizen of the year will be more of a community award, the distinguished service award will still allow the chamber directors to recognize members of the community. Directors also discussed a business of the month award, sending it back to a committee for further discussion. Bennett said the committee should decide how often the award would be presented, what the award would be and the selection process.

The committee did present proposed guidelines for an award. Businesses, according to these guidelines would be judged on their property itself and on their personnel.

Committee member Ted Gallo said, "We think business ought to reflect the kind of image you want in this town."

Gun permits to be issued

BELLE GLADE -- This Monday, March 26, a Palm Beach County representative will be in Belle Glade to issue gun permits and hand out permit applications.

On every second and fourth Monday of the month, Jim Young, project coordinator, with the county's Division of Criminal Justice, is in County Commissioner Bill Bailey's office on the second floor of the Glades Office Building from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. to deal with local gun permits.

Area residents who need to renew their permits can save themselves a trip to West Palm Beach by visiting Young on one of his Belle Glade sojourns.

"We're trying to provide a service throughout the county," Young said.

Tibbles benefit successful

BELLE GLADE -- Members of the Belle Glade American Legion raised funds Feb. 26 in benefit for Wayne Tibbles, a local Glades Central High School student.

Members said the benefit at the Belle Glade Elks Club, Number 1716 was a big success, with $4,847 raised to pay medical bills incurred during Tibbles' lengthy hospital stay.
